

AUTOMOBILE MAIL COURSE STUDENT IS FLUNKED HERE

Knowledge gained by pursuing a correspondence school course in "How to Become an Expert Chauffeur During Spare Time" did not measure up to expectations when William Spencer of Cornwall, N. Y., tried to guide his newly purchased touring car through Bridgeport yesterday. He managed to "get by" until Fairfield avenue and Water street was reached and Traffic Policeman Hugo Fischer was encountered. He might have gotten away with it then had not Policeman Fischer been nearly run over and then noted that Spencer's course resembled the devious paths of a midnight bon vivant.

In the city court this morning Policeman Fischer related his experience and said that Spencer must have been either drunk or drugged. This Spencer denied, defending himself by saying that he was "quite quick on automobile driving," having received instruction through a course by mail about a year ago. He was flustered with something about a question asked by Judge Wilder, Assistant Prosecutor Gray and policeman. A fine of $10 and costs with suspended judgment was imposed after George Botsford of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., whom Spencer sought the car and an experienced operator, promised to drive it out of Connecticut. Spencer explained that he had bought it from Mr. Botsford and had gone to New Haven, where it was stored to take it to his home. He thought that he might have succeeded had he not become "flustered" when he saw a policeman.

EVERY-DAY SUITS FOR WINTER

Simple, Durable, and Warm is One Model—Hats to Wear With It.

Every-day suits for winter wear must be durable, comfortable, simple, and of course, warm. A suit that has these three characteristics and is in style besides may be ordered in navy, black, or brown diagonal chevron. The coat reached almost to the knees, and is, in effect, straight, although unstitched pleats on either side of the front and back lead fullness to it around the bottom. Velvet collar, wide lapels, single-breasted fastening, set-in sleeves, and a part belt composed of two pieces, one on each side of the waist, are the points that make the coat differ from others shown. The skirt opens in a line that corresponds to the opening of the coat. It was narrow at the bottom, and slightly draped on the right side.

With it might be worn either a black velvet coat or a felt hat to match the color of the suit. A black velvet one would lend the costume more style, but a felt one, on the other hand, would be more serviceable. A small black velvet hat with a crown, lined with black and a round crown, is trimmed with wings placed at an angle on either side and with a black and gold ribbon that in encircling the crown holds them in place. It was seen in gray, but could undoubtedly be duplicated to match the suit, also a sailor having a narrower brim and a higher crown than the velvet hat just described. Hands of velvet are woven into a design around the crown.

Still another hat that might be worn if the suit is to serve a purpose other than for morning wear, is one of the very large black velvet shapes. One especially, is trimmed simply with a shirred velvet band and a bow placed at the right side.

LAST RITES SAID FOR MRS. SEELEY AND MR. GERNERT

The funerals of the two victims of Wednesday night's automobile accident near Newtown, Mrs. Robert C. Seeley, of 225 Brooklawn avenue, and Frank C. Gernert of 134 Mountain Grove street, were held from their respective homes this afternoon. None but intimate friends of each family attended, and both were marked with extreme simplicity and solemnity.

Robert C. Seeley, driver of the car and least seriously injured of the four occupants, was unable to attend the funeral of his wife, which was held from the family residence at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The home was filled with beautiful floral tokens.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Richard L. Swain, of the Second Congregational church. During the morning many life long friends of Mrs. Seeley, who died at 11 o'clock, gathered about the home. The honorarium was given to John W. Wheeler, Frank T. Staples, William C. Hawley, C. A. Baldwin, Preston Appel and A. H. Canfield. Only intimate friends accompanied the body to Mountain Grove cemetery, where burial took place.

With Mrs. Gernert hovering between life and death at the Danbury hospital, the funeral of her husband, Frank C. Gernert was held from the family residence, 134 Mountain Grove street, at 2:30 o'clock, this afternoon. Throughout the morning many personal friends and business men of whom Mr. Gernert was an associate, called to take a last look at their associate who had met such a tragic fate.

Rev. John MacLaran Richardson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at the funeral services. There were many floral tributes. At the grave in Mountain Grove cemetery the committal service was conducted by officers of the Hamilton Commandery, K. T. The bearers were following from that organization: Carl F. Slemmon, F. B. Hastings, Edgar D. Maitland, A. H. and R. J. MacKenzie and George A. Robertson.

First Superior Court Trial Next Wednesday

The first trial in the fall term of the superior court is scheduled for next Wednesday when the action of Anolis Flynn, guardian, of this city, against Leonard H. Gault of Westport, is assigned. The plaintiff, who is guardian of the person of Anolis Flynn, has a two thirds interest in Westport property in which Gault has a one-third interest. It is alleged that Gault has been occupying the premises since 1893, and the plaintiff wants an accounting. She claims the rents is worth about $100 a year. She wants the court to order a sale of the property and the proceeds divided.

ALL READY FOR COLUMBUS DAY

All is in readiness for the Columbus day exercises which will be held on Monday, October 12. A bronze bust of the great discoverer on a pedestal of stone ten feet in height which will be placed in the Columbus school by the Italian residents of this city will be unveiled by Miss Amelia Guiliano of North Washington avenue. A voting contest for this honor was held among the young women of Italian birth in the city in which Miss Guiliano won.

Attorney Michael Striel is to be the principal speaker at the unveiling, while Mayor Wilson and members of the board of education will also make addresses. Rev. Angelo DiToro will give the benediction. Preceding the exercises at the school, there will be a parade, the line of march of which will be North avenue and Main street, to State, to Broad, to Fairfield avenue, to Stratford, to East Main street, to Hamilton street, to Pembroke street, to Barnum avenue, to East Main street, to East Washington avenue, to Noble avenue, to Congress street, to Main street, to Columbus school. A ball will be held in Eagles hall in the evening.

DANCE AND WHIST K. OF C. FEATURE FOR COLUMBUS DAY END

The Knights of Columbus will hold a whist and dance at the Casino on Monday evening, which it is expected will surpass anything of its kind ever given in this city before. The order was instrumental in having Columbus day set aside as a legal holiday, and since that time it has been the custom to celebrate the day by a social affair of some kind that will long be remembered by those who participate in it. The proceeds realized by this whist and dance will be added to the fund now being amassed for the fitting up of the new club house of the fraternity.

The whist Monday night will commence at exactly 8:30 o'clock and the dancing will follow the whist. The committee in charge of the affair includes the following:

Robert T. Rock, chairman; John H. Tague, John C. Fitzgerald, Thomas MacMillen, Michael Connelly, Connor Haugh, William B. Prendergast, William Brady, John J. Conway and John J. Scanlon.

SPARE TIRED VAGRANT BY CARRYING EXTRA SHOES

A new method of beating one's way between distant cities was discovered yesterday by Jack Ryan, traffic officer at Main and State streets, when a large touring car bearing a New York number whizzed about his post. In a series of large metal-cased, inflated tires, attached to the back of the tonneau, was one of the weirdest specimens of humpbacked that has vagrant-ed through the city in many days. So surprised was the officer at the novel sight that he had not time to overtake the vehicle before it had shot upon its journey to New York.

The tenacity of a tramp in riding through a well populated city may be imagined, but though the riding upon shock-absorbers and inflated rubber may be easier than upon the hard steel supports of a railroad coal car, it is no mean feat to curl one's inside of a tire, so may be easily ascertained by attempting it.

Bartenders' Notice. No. 258, regular meeting at their hall 34 Bank street 3:00 p. m. sharp, Sunday, Oct. 11th. Members are requested to bring or send their due books.

INDIAN POTENTATE MORE THAN SEVENTY IN BRITISH ARMY

SIR PERISH SINGH, a septuagenarian, one of the notables of India, has gone to the front with an expeditionary force and will offer his services to England. He is only one of many Indian potentates who have rendered financial and moral support to Great Britain in the present war.

Colvin Brown Shows How New Trade May Be Gained By Effort

In an absorbing address on "New Markets which war has opened to American manufactured products" Colvin B. Brown, an authority on this subject, attempted to show Bridgeport business men last night the vast field that had been opened to them by the European war.

"South America," Mr. Brown declared, "is waiting for the entrance of American goods in their market, for with the closing of European factories the Latin countries had to depend entirely upon the United States. He gave a brief history of the country and the European domination of commerce since 1862, stating that it was now up to America to show the South Americans what they had to offer.

In this respect it was pointed out that the Panama Pacific exposition to be held in San Francisco would be attended by many South American and Oriental merchants and would offer a good opportunity to get in touch with that trade. Mr. Brown also spoke in favor of a commercial congress to be held in conjunction with the exposition.

The meeting was one of the best attended meetings given by the Chamber of Commerce. The speaker was greeted with generous applause.

MAILS ON MONDAY

General delivery parcels post, and registry windows will remain open until noon.

Republican "Crib Feeders."

(Hartford Globe.)
Attorney General Light is in revolt against the Republican party. If the newspaper interviews quote him correctly, and he will probably accept a nomination for the position he holds from the Progressive remnant. It is not difficult to understand the Light soreness when the policy of the Republicans in this state is taken into consideration. For years the party has been feeding at the public crib a little select coterie. They and their friends have had to be taken care of regardless of the claims of others who work for the party and are ambitious.

Sooner or later the rank and file will realize that the party out to have some mission other than procuring life positions for machine representatives. Sooner or later the crib feeding policy will have to go overboard or the party leaders will feel the voice of their many disgruntled followers.

Attorney General Light had been nominated for two successive terms. Why should he expect renewed consideration of efficient lawyers claiming recognition? The answer is that he objects to being singled out as an exception to the general rule of the party. He has no other argument that weighs weightier than this one.

Once a Republican office-holder, always a Republican office-holder, is an appropriate slogan. Cliques in the party have been able to push their friends forward for the plums, and once they land them it is less majestic to grab the plum than to lose it. Let a new clique be created with a salary larger than some of the old ones and immediately we find a grabfest among the crib feeders. They want everything in sight and they have been getting it. They care not that a young, ambitious and influential element is coming forward and is deserving of consideration. They brush them aside and grab the plum with an impurity that borders on arrogance.

How much longer will this state of affairs continue?

The Democrats have learned the wisdom of passing the plums around. Note the new and untitled young men that the present administration is appointing to the remunerative positions. This is scientific political maneuvering and may well be copied by the G. O. P. leaders.

G.O.P. GET COLD FEET ON SCHEME TO NAME WOMEN ON SCHOOL BOARD

From exceptional authority it has been learned that the proposition of the Republican machine to name women to the school board in place of Messrs. Bell and Webster has fallen through and that the retiring members will be named to take their former positions. Several women have been approached but without effecting the desired combination. Those who make a profession of working for the cause of equal franchise were to have been barred under the plan. J. Alexander Robinson, city clerk and town chairman of the Republican party, had been selected as the one to do the sorting out, it being generally conceded that "Alec" is a past master in that art. But even the alert found the task one too difficult of accomplishment and he has raised a flag of truce. Of course the ladies will give Alec credit for what he tried to do.

The cortege proceeded to Darlen in automobiles where burial took place.

"RED" ALLEN MADE HIS MAN BITE THE DUST IN THE SIXTH

John (Red) Allen, the doughty little fighter of this city, won a fine battle from "Young" Loughlin in the semi-final of the big fight between Gunner Smith and Battling Levinski in New York last night. Allen was the victor and he cut the pace from the tap of the bell until the mid-section of the sixth period when Loughlin was so incapacitated from the effects of the drubbing administered that he refused to get him to his corner thereby acclaiming the Park City lad the winner.

Tonight, Allen fights Frankie Burns of Hartford, Conn. Allen has been expected to be again returned the winner. Allen has been coming along very rapidly of late and Dan Morgan, his manager, "pipes" him as sure as the sun rises. Allen will give the local public a chance to see how he can shine up.

"Battling" Levinski, who had the best of his bout with Gunboat Smith last night, was arrested for being a resident of Stratford where he has taken a home and where he intends to reside with his wife. Levinski is known as the "gentlemanly boxer" and is said to be a young man of excellent personal habits.

MRS. GERNERT IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS

In the Danbury hospital the condition of Mrs. Frank C. Gernert who was seriously injured in an automobile accident at Newtown last Wednesday, remains the same. Physicians in charge state that at this time since being taken to the institution she has regained even momentary consciousness, though an effort was made to relieve the pressure upon the brain. While it is also deemed necessary to operate upon her back, her condition is so low at this time that the step has not been warranted.
